

ABSTRACT

A hand held bottle for dispensing fluids in a spray having a reservoir for holding fluid and a dispensing mechanism including a siphon tube disposed in the fluid, a first baffle positioned in the bottle to create a well or accumulation of fluid in the bottom portion of the bottle when it is moved from a vertical to a horizontal position, especially when the total level of fluid in the reservoir is low. A second baffle positions the siphon tube within the well.